

Douglas G. Farmer

UCLA Mednet, USA

*Session 6A: Surgical Debates: C: Intestinal Tx for Hirschsprungs
– stoma for life or not?; July 2, 2023; 3:30pm–4:00pm*

Douglas G. Farmer is currently a Professor of Surgery at the University of California, Los Angeles. He completed his undergraduate and medical degrees at Duke University in 1985 and 1989. From there, he matriculated to UCLA from 1989-1996 for his General Surgery Residency training. This was followed by fellowship training in multiorgan transplantation under the mentorship of Ronald W. Busuttil at UCLA from 1996-1998. He joined the faculty at UCLA in 1998 and has remained there since. His clinical expertise has been in adult and pediatric liver transplantation, hepatobiliary surgery, intestinal transplantation, and complex gastrointestinal surgery. He has served as the Director of the Pediatric Liver Transplant Program at UCLA since 2006 and has been the first Director of the Intestinal Transplant Program since 1999. He is currently the Director of the Adult Liver Transplant Program as well as Interim Chief of the Division of Liver and Pancreas Transplantation. Dr. Farmer served two terms as a Councilor for the Intestinal Transplant Association and served as President of the Intestinal Rehabilitation and Transplantation Association from 2013-2015. He has participated in every International Small Bowel Transplant Symposium/Congress of the Intestinal Rehabilitation and Transplantation Association since 1991.

CIRTA XVIII CHICAGO

JUNE 30 – JULY 3, 2023

Intestinal Rehabilitation & Transplant
Association

a section of
The Transplantation Society

